

I came to the Jenny Rose center after I read about the possibility of hyperbaric oxygen therapy being used for lyme disease treatment. There was no proven medical evidence that it treated lyme, but after months of IV antibiotic therapy that left me chronically sick and very weak, I decided that alternative therapy was the answer. I was absolutely amazed at the results. Before I started therapy, I had constant joint, muscle and nerve pain in every area of my body and would fatigue very easily. Gradually, throughout therapy, I noticed small changes. I was able to stay energetic all day, I even started running again, a hobby I never imagined regaining! I believe that hyperbaric oxygen therapy helped my body to heal itself from the wreckage of Lyme disease. I have continued to do maintenance sessions, once for 20 hours 6 months after the first round, and now again 6 months later. The past year of my life has been 99% pain free, without the use of any antibiotic therapy or other medications. I cannot say for certain, but I whole-heartedly believe that hyperbaric therapy, combined with my strong will to heal despite the odds, helped me overcome a disease that has devastated so many lives and families in this country. I encourage anyone suffering with Lyme or its after-effects to try hyperbaric medicine at the Jenny Rose center. The staff is warm and loving, knowledgeable and always willing to work around schedules! They are dedicated to bringing this powerful therapy to those who have been unsuccessful with traditional medicine. I am so thankful for the experience!
